AMUSEMENTS THE MAN AND STORE ACCIDENCE ACCIDEN The "Century Habit"

Is about the only modern phrase that is not to be found in The Century Dictionary and Cyclopedia and Atlas. Modesty made the omission. The meaning of the name is the constant using of the ten best books of reference in the world.

The "Century Habit," persisted in, can have but one result—a complete education; a thorough familiarity with to-day's knowledge of the world's facts.

Thousands of people are daily becoming more generally superior to others. in their business, in their study and their reading.

The great work is cheaper now—and easier to buy—and newly revised and completed.

Through the Wanamaker Century Dictionary Club—now forming—if your references are satisfactory, you can secure a set at once for $1, and become its owner by paying $3 monthly for 14 taken piecemeal. And we speak this morning HOMESPUNS months-or more, according to the binding you

The Wanamaker Collections of Fall Silks and Dress Goods

CUPERIORITY in such collections as these lies largely in matters of selection. Price is important, but, to a large extent, is self-regulating. But the taste, the knowledge, the ingrained instinct born of a life-time's experience, that pick, and the power that controls are not matters of mathematics or mercantile routine. Judgment, taste, opportunity, skill;—the same reasons that make you better dressed than your neighbors, are the reasons that make our fabrics and style-collections

It is easy for these prices to be from a little less to a great deal less than the prevailing market. No one who understands our addicted to the constant use of The Century Dic- facilities and powers will question why. It is easy for us to acquire earliest (and generally, exclusively) the very choicest and best that France, tionary and Cyclopedia and Atlas—in their homes, Germany, Switzerland, England and America can produce. But this last is the ease that is derived only from vast and painstaking preparation. Hints of variety follow. Interesting, but valuable only as a few chapter-headings are of value to a vast volume.

At prices from $8.50 to $20 a yard, some of the most beautiful silks that have ever been imported. Printed Panne, Taffeta Mousseline, Satin Duchesse, Brocades, Velvet Brocades. All exclusive designs.
